38	"	"			21:44-22:17	Cuccinelli: "We'll continue to do that, consistent with President Trump's charge to lean forward, to be on the front edge of keeping the people of this country safe from this threat and any other threats that we work on in the Dept of Homeland Security everyday. __ But right now, our focus today at this press conference, is on the Novel Coronavirus and all the steps that are being taken by CBP [Customs and Border Patrol], by the Coast Guard and within the Dept of Homeland Security. They're being supported by our CWMD (countering weapons of mass destruction) where our chief medical officer resides and our biological capacity, as well as FEMA, their backup to work with Dr. Kadlek here frequently. So there is a deep engagement across the US government to keep the American people safe."	Did Cuccinelli disclose too much information? The others seem to be uncomfortable.
39	"	"			27:33-28:39	Redfield: what do we recommend outside of handwashing?
40	"	"			30:58-33:23	Fauci: stated there is really no indication that Chinese are more susceptible or vulnerable than anyone else. "So I would think that's something you shouldn't be concerned about."	Questioner also asked if cases in the US are Asian. Redfield and Fauci both avoid to answer.

41	"	"			33:24-35:54	Redfield: "Obviously in China they are in mitigation stages. They're really now beyond containment. The virus right now is not under control by China." __ Regarding US, "We're actively beginning to think about what other steps we would take if there were broader cases in the United States." __ "But I do think right at this stage we're still in a containment phase. ... It doesn't mean in two weeks from now, or four weeks from now, we won't need to begin looking at some mitigation strategies."
